

York

Before I started the journey I was pretty nervous about the day in the bus. I thought that I will sleep almost all the time in bus, but I was pretty wrong. I slept only 3-5 hours of 24. On the road we talked a lot with each other. We shared some music and we were making fun of the other school. I hope, that they were too. When we finally met ours new "family" we tried to talk to them, but they didn't want to. I was kind of sad about that. I went there mostly for experience and I didn't get much of them. But I'm glad that I've been there. I met new people, new teachers. The school was best experience of the whole trip. Teachers were great, they was so calm and tolerant. They were like our friends, we could chat with them with no worries. I think I learnt a lot from them, they were just great. Always after the school we went to visit some place like the beacon. On the way home I was pretty tired of the whole trip, so I tried to sleep. When we arrived home I was really happy that I'm finally home. But I'm glad, that I've been there. I think that's all from my view to this school trip to York.

This photo was taken at the beacon.
